DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Applicant's submission filed on December 4, 2003 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear if the frangible webs set forth in claim 6 are separate or the same elements as the frangible webs introduced in claim 1. Does the invention have two sets of frangible webs?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3727

5. Claims 1, 5-7 and 13-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Csaszar (U.S. 4,907,708). Csaszar teaches a closure 1, shown in figure 10, having a top wall, a skirt 11 and a tamper indicating band at 12. The frangible webs are elements 14. The annular step is shown at 7a. The tamper indicating bead is shown at 7b. The finish bead of the container is element 16. The upper portion of the finish bead is located above lead line 16 at the top of the bead, and the lower portion of the finish bead is located at lead line 16. The transition surface is shown just above lead line 16. The annular step engages the lower portion when the closure is being applied to the container.

Regarding claims 21 and 22, Csaszar teaches a closure 1, shown in figure 7, having a top wall, a skirt 11 and a tamper indicating band at 12. The frangible webs are elements 14. The annular step is shown at 7a. The tamper indicating bead is shown at 7c. The finish bead of the container is element 16. The upper portion of the finish bead is located above lead line 16 at the top of the bead, and the lower portion of the finish bead is located below lead line 16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Csaszar (U.S. 4,907,708) in view of Csaszar (U.S. 4,343,408). '708 discloses the claimed invention except for the upper surface of the bead being substantially horizontal. '408 teaches that it is known to provide a tamper band with a bead having a substantially horizontal upper surface (see element 18 in figures 3-5). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the closure of '708 with the bead having an upper surface which is substantially horizontal, as taught by '408, in order to provide a more firm engagement between the container bead and the tamper indicating bead (see col. 5 lines 6-13 of '408).

Csaszar teaches a closure 1, shown in figure 7, having a top wall, a skirt 11 and a tamper indicating band at 12. The frangible webs are elements 14. The annular step is shown at 7a. The tamper indicating bead is shown at 7c. The finish bead of the container is element 16. The upper portion of the finish bead is located above lead line 16 at the top of the bead, and the lower portion of the finish bead is located below lead line 16.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 24 is allowed.
